NOW RUBY: It looks like TV isn't finished with the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. Over the last few months, programs from A Current Affair to PrimeTime Live aired reports on the assassination — due in large part to the success of the film JFK. Now with the release of Ruby — about Jack Ruby, the man who killed JFK assassin Lee Harvey Oswald — looks like we're in for more. Today's Geraldo (check local listings) examines Ruby's role in JFK's assassination. April 15, James Earl Jones hosts a live syndicated special, The JFK Conspiracy, which claims to have unearthed new information. Later in April, NBC offers the second installment of its I Witness Video special with a report on how Ruby shot Oswald. And NBC is developing a miniseries about Oswald and wife Marina.
